Resident Foreigners Buy Bonds.

It was not American citizens alone who subscribed to Liberty loan bonds. A great number of citizens of other nations living here, who have never taken out naturalization papers, subscribed liberally to the bonds. The International Nickel company at its Bayonne plant has nearly two thousand foreigners in its employ and those foreigners purchased more than one hundred and fifty thousand dollars of Liberty loan bonds.

It has been noted, too, that American cities with large populations of foreign birth were notably liberal in their subscriptions to the Liberty loan.

Now that our soldiers are actually in France, and our people familiar as never before with the details of government bond issues, the next issue of Liberty Loan bonds will receive undoubtedly an even more enthusiastic support than its predecessor.

TO ASSIST GROWERS OF PERISHABLES

Secretary of Agriculture Calls Conference on Fruit and Garden Products.

"It is of the first importance that every assistance shall be given to growers of perishables in the marketing of them, and also that surpluses shall be preserved through every approvedness," said Secretary Houston of the department of agriculture at the opening of a conference which he had called.

Further aid in caring for surplus fruits and vegetables, especially the products of home orchards and gardens, is the object of this conference called by the secretary of agriculture and which will continue for a couple of days or as long as may be necessary. Secretary Houston has caused a telegraphic survey to be made showing just where there are more fruits and vegetables of home growth than can be conserved in the usual way and the conference will endeavor to provide means of relief in these sections.

In order that there may be full information as to the supply of containers and driers, and in order that the trade requirements and conditions may be thoroughly understood the secretary invited the following representatives of trade interests and they are in attendance on the conference.

Committee on Fruit and Garden Products.

W. M. Wilkes, Indianapolis, Ind., representing Van Camp Packing Co.

H. W. Phelps, New York City, vice-president American Canning Co.

G. Thomas, Washington, D. C., P. F. Sturtevant Co.

F. E. Gorrill, Washington, D. C., secretary National Canners' association.

J. O. Ross, Boston, Mass., B. F. Sturtevant Co.

F. C. Ball, Munice, Ind., president Ball Glass Manufacturing company.

In addition to A. D. Lasker of Lord & Thomas, Chicago, who is serving as chairman of the committee and who will remain in Washington for some weeks to direct this particular activity, others participating in the conference are: C. J. Brand, chief, bureau of markets; Dr. C. L. Alsberg, chief, bureau of chemistry; Clarence Ousley, assistant to the secretary; and John Callon O'Laughlin, Washington, D. C. (newspaper correspondents).

Secretary Houston's Address.

In greeting the conference Secretary Houston said:

"My first thought is that of appreciation of your prompt and patriotic response to my request to attend this conference. I realized that you have urgent business at home, but I was confident that you would set aside any private interests at this time to render assistance to the government. I am grateful to you for your presence and your willingness to assist us."

"The farmers, aided by nature, have made a magnificent response to the appeals of the president for increased production. Not only is there a prospect of large crops of certain staple products but it is apparent that there will be a particularly large output this year of perishables. Many agencies throughout the country have especially urged the people, not only in the country districts but also in urban communities, to plant gardens. There is therefore not only an increased production in the usual areas but a considerable addition in these new places."

The Marketing of Perishables.

"The marketing of perishables presents peculiar difficulties. They must be marketed promptly. The danger always is that of bad distribution and of a glut of the markets. There is a further danger that, either through inability to reach the markets or through neglect, a very large part of the perishable products will be lost to the consuming world. It is therefore of the first importance that every assistance shall be given to growers of perishables in the marketing of them, and also that surpluses shall be preserved through every approved means."

"For many years the department has been furnishing assistance in the canning, drying and preserving of perishables as well as in their marketing. In the last four years, in particular, great extensions of activities in this field have been made. A bureau of markets, with varied activities and forces reaching into very many sections of the union, with a regular budget of nearly $2,000,000, has been built up. It has rendered aid in many directions. Through the evolution of the market news service, it has been particularly helpful to truck growers. Under the food-production bill, now pending before Congress, large extensions of the
